CARAVAN DVD - 35TH ANNIVERSARY CONCERT - (2DVD)	1973-0	CVIS 397	Prog. Rock UK	22,90 €
NTSC, region free. Live At The Bloomsbury Theatre, London, 30th November 2003. The house was packed to the rafters and the mood inside was jubilant at Londons Bloomsbury Theatre, when - on the night of June 30th 2003 - Caravan took to the stage to commemorate an astonishing career spanning 35 glorious years. Pye Hastings, Richard Coughlan, Geoffrey Richardson, Jan Schelhaas, Doug Boyle and Jim Leverton - joined for a few numbers by occasional band member and brother of Pye, Jimmy Hastings - delighted the audience with a set lasting over two hours and comprising of exquisitely performed material from Caravans extraordinary and extensive body of work. This package captures that historic event in its majestic entirety on a 2 DVD collection, which includes both the electric and acoustic sets performed on that perfect evening by a truly inspired Caravan. With extra features including; the legendary 1973 promotional performance of The Dog, The Dog, Hes At It Again, shown at the time on the BBCs Old Grey Whistle Test, but completely unseen since; and a series of recent interviews with all the band members - recorded exclusively for inclusion in this package - where they discuss their complete career to date and suggest what may be the future of the band, this set is the ultimate Caravan artefact, capturing the true spirit - established over four decades - of this very special group. Produced in full conjunction with the band.

CHICAGO BLUES REUNION DVD - Buried Alive In The Blues - (DVD+CD)	2004	Out The Box Records / OTB 3016	Blues Rock USA	17,90 €
This just in, Buried Alive In The Blues has earned a 4 star review from Rolling Stone's David Fricke in the 11/19 issue. Read the review : „In 1969, Chess issued Fathers and Sons, a summit meeting of Chicago's black elders and white blues stars. Today, singer Nick Gravenites, organ/piano man Barry Goldberg, guitarist Harvey Mandel and harp blower Corky Siegel, all sons of that era, are old enough to be fathers themselves. But they were in sharp, seasoned form for this live 2004 homecoming, now a CD/DVD set. This time there's a mother too: Singer Tracy Nelson, who tears into Slim Harpo's "I'm Gonna Miss You Like the Devil" as if she's the one with horns and a pitchfork." „This album was recorded at FitzGerald's in Berwyn, Illinois, in November, 2004. I wasn't there, but I wish I had been there to see this band that includes: Nick Gravenites, Barry Goldberg, Harvey Mandel, Tracy Nelson, Corky Siegel, Sam Lay, Zach Wagner, Rick Reed and Gary Mallaber. The album begins with "Born in Chicago," which is a good song to get the feet moving and the blood pumping. It is followed by "Buried Alive in the Blues," a song that Nick Gravenites wrote for Janis Joplin. Unfortunately, Joplin died the day before she would have laid down the vocals for the song. Tracy Nelson takes the lead vocals on the third track "Walk Away" and really belts it out. This song alone would have been worth the priced of admission. Nick Gravenites at times sounds like Eric Clapton and at other times sounds more like Charlie Musselwhite ("Drinking Wine"). In addition to Gravenites and Nelson, there are two other vocalists on this album. Sam Lay provides the vocals for "Find My Baby" and "Hound Dog." Corky Siegel lays down the vocals on "King Bee." I'll tell you one thing, the vocals aren't lacking, no matter who sings on a given track. This album is full of all the things that make Chicago blues great: big guitars, harmonica, piano and organ. Not to mention, songs about drinking, lost love, Muddy Waters and trucks. If you love the blues, especially Chicago blues, you should have this album.“ (review by Gary Schwind). CD + DVD : CD: 14 track audio keepsake; over 60 Min. of fantastic live music. DVD: collectors photo gallery; over 80 min. of footage; 30 min. interviews; commenatries from Steve Miller, B.B. King, Eric Clapton,+++

In spite of Jon Hiseman's reluctance to reform Colosseum, in the early nineties the spate of band reissues generated new interest in the band. Whilst on tour in Germany, Hiseman was encouraged to rethink, and a debut reunion concert was arranged at the Freiburg Zelt-Musik-Festival in June 1994. Original band members Chris Farlowe (vocals), Dick Heckstall-Smith (saxes), Clem Clempson (guitars), Dave Greenslade (keyboards) were joined by Mark Clarke (bass/vocals) This DVD features the entire second concert of that first reunion after some 23 years, and as a bonus there is a 90-minute "Story of" documentary. Complete running time 3 hours.

In May of 2005 Cream returned to London's Royal Albert Hall, to the same stage where they had completed what was thought to be their final performance in 1968. It was one of the most eagerly anticipated, hard-to-get tickets in rock history. With the exception of a brief reunion set at their 1993 induction into the Rock and roll Hall of Fame, Cream had not played together in nearly four decades. This DVD documents Cream's momentous London shows. Performances from each of the four nights are featured and much more. Also included are alternate performances and interviews with Ginger Baker, Jack Bruce, and Eric Clapton. Cream formed in 1966 and disbanded in 1968. The band were a prolific and thrilling live act and toured incessantly in their short but remarkable history. HORSLIPS DVD - The Return Of The Dancehall Sweethearts - (2 DVD) Region 0, PAL. What can you say about Horslips? Well you can say this. They came among us, when our need was greatest, with their thigh length boots, their electric fiddles, their smoke machines and their coloured lights and, most importantly, their thumping, electrifying Celtic Rock, and they gave us a glimpse at an Ireland that didnt actually exist yet. The Ireland they came from looked a good deal more exciting and colorful than the one we were living in - it was the Ireland we wanted to be - and they, mad, glad fools that they were, they invited us into their Ireland and an awful lot of us went. This is a film about that journey. They werent actually around for that long, just about a decade give or take, but they were a busy bunch of mustachioed men. For the 10 years that was the 70s Horslips ploughed their very unique musical furrow from their home base in Ireland into mainland Europe and on into America. In an eight year period from 1972 to their last show in 1980, when Charles OConnors fiddle spun hypnotically through the spotlights in the Kings Hall, they had produced a staggering 12 albums and performed live over 2000 times. This is a film about that journey. In March of 2004 Horslips, perhaps the seminal Irish rock band, left Dublin by bus, travelled north & took to the stage in the Orchard Gallery in Derry where they played together for the first time in 24 years. This is a film about that journey. PACKAGE: a Deluxe (2 x) DVD box-set presentation with full-colour 24 page booklet. (total running time approx.: 220 minutes) DVD 1: A feature film about Horslips and Ireland of the 1970s & 80s directed by Maurice Linnane (U2, Van Morrison, Garth Brooks, Rolling Stones). MAN DVD - Live At The Rex A historically significant chapter in the story of this great Welsh aggregation, as this was the last tour on which Deke Leonard played with the band before retiring to write books. The Man band's turbulent history has seen members come and go what seemed practically like every five minutes: these days only Mickey Jones and Martin Ace remain from the original lineup, but the band have not one iota of their love of playing diminished. This is actually the first DVD the band have released, and as such it's ironic that it should describe such a poignant occasion in the band's career- but rather than looking downhearted, they tear through 'Daughter Of The Fireplace' 'Spunk Rock' 'Romain' and 'Stuck Behind The Popemobile' with the fire of a man (or indeed a Man Band) possessed. DVD - LAMENTATIONS - Live at Sheperd's Bush		KOC-DV-9540	S
Opeth continues to defy sceptics within the metal genre with their ever evolving sound and style that puts other "music by numbers" bands to shame. On Opeth's DVD "Lamentations", the band leans heavily on their last 2 CD's "Damnation" and "Deliverance" along with several tracks from "Blackwater Park". By playing the entire "Damnation" disc early on, Opeth shows off their brooding, slow-grooved mellower technical brilliance contrasting with the more punishing tracks later on the DVD. The picture and sound quality is crisp and clear throughout. Much like fellow up and coming Swedes Evergrey, Opeth has an ambience about themselves similar to experimental music pioneers of the 1970's such as Led Zeppelin, Rush, Yes, Jane, King Crimson and Pink Floyd. While some of these experiments may leave some fans cold (the clean vocals and mellow feel of "Damnation") these successful transitions will only prolong the Opeth's longevity as their music continues to have a fresh vibe to it. Included on the DVD is an hour long documentary where all the members of Opeth are interviewed during the recording of both the "Damnation" and "Deliverance" CD's. Special Features: Anamorphic 16:9 ; Dolby Digital Stereo ; Dolby Digital 5.0 ; DTS ; NTSC Region 0

V/A - FESTIVAL EXPRESS DVD - WOODSTOCK ON WHEELS 2 DVD-set. PAL - Festival Express is a rousing record of a little-known, but monumental, moment in rock n' roll history, starring such music legends as Janis Joplin, The Band, and the Grateful Dead. Set in 1970, Festival Express was a multi-band, multi-day extravaganza that captured the spirit and imagination of a generation and a nation. What made it unique was that it was portable; for five days, the bands and performers lived, slept, rehearsed and did countless unmentionable things aboard a customized train that traveled from Toronto, to Calgary, to Winnipeg, with each stop culminating in a mega-concert. The entire experience, both off-stage and on, was filmed but the extensive footage remained locked away -- until now. A momentous achievement in rock film archeology, Festival Express combines this long-lost material with contemporary interviews nearly 35 years after it was first filmed. The vintage concert footage alone makes Festival Express a memorable and worthwhile endeavor, offering scintillating performances by Janis Joplin, the Band (their rollicking version of "Slippin' and Slidin'" is particularly mind-blowing), the Grateful Dead, Buddy Guy, and others (remember Mashmakhan?). In 1970, during the heyday of the rock festival, promoter Ken Walker decided to organize a traveling musical revue, bringing the mountain to Mohammed, as it were. In five days' time, the festival played in three Canadian cities with the entire conglomeration traveling, playing, and getting smashed together the whole way. Nearly as rewarding as the live performances are the candid scenes of the train ride itself, an endless jam session and party during which musicians of all shapes and sizes let their hair down--musically and otherwise. The contemporary interviews with Walker and some of the surviving musicians aren't particularly noteworthy, except as a way to prove that it all actually happened. Walker comes off as a hero in the film: he treated the musicians like royalty and insisted that the train roll on even though he was losing his shirt. (His financial failure is a large reason why this material stayed in the vaults for so long.) Perhaps the most remarkable scene is an off-the-cuff, LSD-fueled train jam featuring Joplin, the Band's Rick Danko, and the Dead's Jerry Garcia playing the old chestnut "Ain't No More Cane." Danko is so obliterated that even Janis has to ask him if he's OK--when Janis is worried about your state of mind, you must be pretty messed up. - Marc Greilsamer	1970	HanWay / NL DS90292	Rock Psych Folk USA	20,90 €
